Inflicting the Law

With the execution at the state penitentiary yesterday of Andrija Mirkovich, the fullest intent of the law was complied with. The statutes of the state of Nevada require that death or imprisonment for life, the penalty to be determined by the jury deciding the case, shall be the punishment upon conviction for murder. Mirkovich was convicted of this crime and the jury named the penalty as death. The court allowed the defendant the preference of execution, shooting or hanging. Shooting was chosen.

The crime committed by Mirkovich was cold blooded in the extreme. With deliberation he took the life of one of the most prominent business men of Tonopah. A man who had long been identified with the upbuilding of this state, who had served in public life on several occasions and whose every effort was for the upbuilding of the community in which he lived. Honored and respected by all, he was stabbed to death by an assassin with a fanatical grievance, and in the passing the community lost a valuable citizen.

The assassin was offered every opportunity to establish his innocence. A jury of fair minded men heard his plea, listened to the case established by the state and in the end brought in a verdict of guilty with the death penalty as the punishment.

In the carrying out of the intent of the law, recourse is taken to the old Mosiac belief of "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." The law is plain and the responsibility of the execution of Mirkovich rests upon no man's head. The penalty has been exacted without delay nor with haste and the state has lawfully avenged the crime.

More Questions to Answer

The order of Judge Langan at Carson which made Frank L. Wildes the highest paid official in the state and whose compensation was payable from the savings of unfortunate depositors of a defunct bank, has been attacked from another angle. M. A. Diskin, district attorney of Esmeralda county, yesterday filed an affidavit in support of a motion to set aside the findings of the court on the ground of fraud, alleging willful purpose on the part of Receiver Wildes to deceive the court. This follows closely on the heels of a similar motion by the attorney general and under these motions it ought to be possible to admit additional daylight into the administration of this important trust. There are several matters that these proceedings ought to bring out.

First, they should bring to public scrutiny an inventory of the assets of the bank when taken into custody by the receiver.

Second, they should explain the reasons why dividends alleged to aggregate $32,000 have remained in the custody of the receiver, with a statement of such efforts as have been made to place these dividends in the hands of those to whom they belong.

Third, they should afford an opportunity for depositors to observe whether the assets of the bank have been handled in a business like way and for the benefit of the creditors.

Fourth, they should afford an opportunity for men who employ bankers to testify on the subject of proper compensation.

It is quite certain that Mr. Diskin, on behalf of Esmeralda county, will make a genuine effort to get before the court such information as it may lack along these lines.—Goldfield Tribune.

"The attorneys in the investigation," suggests the Carson Appeal, in relation to the Wildes receivership, "have made very plain charges and accusations against Judge Langan and have probably started something where the outsiders will have a look-in in this badly muddled affair." This is devoutly to be wished. "Judge Langan has contended that everything was alright in this matter," adds the Appeal, "but according to the investigation of the attorneys there seem to be marked discrepancies in the reports, and when investigated it would appear that they do not show on their face what they really contain. It will take considerable explaining to make the public see these matters clearly." It undoubtedly will. But why should the work of the highest paid officials in the state need explaining? A receiver worth $10,000 per year employing attorneys for $30,000 to keep him straight ought to be able to avoid the kind of explanations Mr. Wildes is called upon to make. If he can't avoid them he is not worth what the court allowed him.—Tribune.

Marble quarries, coal lands, quicksilver, gold, silver, lead, copper mines, potash deposits, salt deposits are but a few of the industries that exist in Nye county. This is not counting the agricultural possibilities. If you have a friend that is looking for opportunities direct him to this section.

After the dust has been blown away Tonopah presents a fairly creditable appearance. All credit for the removal of the dust should be tendered to the board of county commissioners where it justly belongs.

RELIABILITY

Is the element that counts most in the drug business. Customers should be able to go to a drug store with the utmost assurance that their interests will be protected in every way. This element of reliability and responsibility is found at:

SPLENDID SHOWING BY THE ALABAMA MINSTRELS

The following taken from the Hamilton. Mont. Times of June 14, shows the manner in which the Alabama Minstrels were received in that city:

"The Alabama Minstrels gave an enjoyable entertainment in their big tent last night to a good audience. The minstrel men made a splendid showing in their red coats and hats, and the music by their band was exceptionally good."

The minstrels will appear in Tonopah next Tuesday night. The show will be under canvas, the tent to be located on the lot formerly occupied by the Knights of Pythias building, corner of Brougher avenue and Central street.

Studebaker

"When I invest in a wagon I buy a Studebaker, then it's a safe investment"

Of course it is! Studebaker wagons are built on honor, with sixty years of wagon-building experience—and with every wagon goes a Studebaker guarantee.

You can't afford to have a dealer sell you some other wagon represented to be "just as good."

If you want a wagon that will last, run easily and stand up to its work, there is only one wagon to buy—and that's a Studebaker.

Don't trade ten extra years of service for a few dollars difference in price.

Studebaker wagons are made to fit every requirement of business or pleasure, in city, town or country.

"ALONG LIFE'S PATH"

Miss Viola Mae is yo' goin' to attend de soiree at Mrs. Gauntier dis aft'! "Why certainly I is, Mr. Romain. I hear she's goin' to serve de refreshments a la buffet. She's got one of dem El Perco coffee perculiarators she brung back from de city. But de Power Company's goin' to hab a sale of 'em nex' Sa'day at twenty-five per cent off an' after dat she certainly won't be de only lady in dis town assistin' her friend's to regalmints from de side board!"

"Is dat so? An' nex' week I'se invited to de celebration ob Mr. an' Mrs. Butterworth Livingston's wedding anniversary an' I'se most 'specially struck wid de fac' dat one ob dem perculiarators would be a mos' assumptuous an' attractive weddin' presen' fo' 'em."

"Why, Mr. Romain, what wonderful punnel taste yo' display! Yo' couldn' ob selected a mo' brilliant gif! Wid de hot weather comin' on, when de ladies dislikes so much to be ag'avated by de heat ob de stove, or eben de smell of gas, an' strikin' ob matches, to say nothin' ob de dangers ob becomin' asstified, I'se certainly goin' to hab one ob 'em myself! Why, you can make coffee in 'em befo' you can turn 'round twice. Ob coase de price is no objee' to yo', but I jes can't see how dat Power Company can sell 'em so cheap! But let me caution you 'bout one thing, though. Yo' better make a specialized effort to be in attendance at de sale as early in de dap as possible, 'cause de occasion is sho' to be so largely attended by bofe cullud an' white, dat it's very hard indeed to receive de attention ob de clerks. I really enjoys witnessin' de aggregation ob so many ob Tonopah's bes' dressed la dies! Why, wid de exception ob de Fo'th ob July an' circus day th ey's nothin' like hit!"
